U.S. WHEAT STATES JOIN SILVER BLOC NEW AGITATION FOR BIMETALLISM.

ROOSEVELT CONSIDERS POLICY

Washington, To-day. Speculation in the United States over the prospects of a new monetary move by President Roosevelt has been received as the result of conferences here, at which he is believed to have scrutinized a monetary programme. The President first saw Mr. Eugene Black, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and Mr. Rene Leon, a prominent silver authority. Afterwards, he conferred with Mr. Henry Morgenthau and Mr. Homer S. Cummings, the Attorney General. Devaluation of the Federal Reserve's gold a commodity dollar, and silver, were topics, but the results of the talks were not disclosed. Meanwhile, the agitation for bimetalism has spread in congress from the silver States to those States within the wheat belt. Regarding the Treasury taking possession of the Federal Reserve's gold, Government supporters insist that they have authority to do this, but Senator Thomas insists that special legislation is necessary. The Federal Reserve Board is reported as willing to credit the Treasury with the profit from devaluation, but is opposed to the physical seizure of its gold.—Reuter

MONETARY POLICY IN AMERICA.

Roosevelt Confers With Officials.

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1884. Received January 12, 12.55 p.m.)
Washington, To-day. The United Press learns from authoritative quarters that President Roosevelt, the Secretary of the United States Treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, and the Attorney General, Mr. Homer S. Cummings, have discussed a general monetary policy, including the Treasury's re-capture of the Federal Reserve gold supply.—United Press, per S.C. Gold Bar Co.

BANK DEPOSITS INCREASE U.S. Insurance Scheme Effective.

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1884. Received January 12, 8.40 a.m.)
Washington, To-day. A nation-wide survey of bank deposits in America, made by the United Press, shows that they have increased as much as 50 per cent. in some cases since the deposit insurance became effective. The retiring Chairman, Mr. Cummings, said that approximately $4,000,000 of individual deposits in 13,431 banks were protected by as much as U.S.$2,500 apiece. The United States Government has offered U.S. $125,000,000 in three-month Treasury Bills to the highest bidder, of which U.S. $75,525,000 will be useable to pay the Bills maturing on January 17. The remainder will be added to the Treasury's current U.S. $750,000,000 cash balance.—United Press, per S.C. Gold Bar Co.

FRANCE TO RESTORE FULL QUOTAS TO BRITAIN

Understanding Follows Foreign Office Discussions

London, To-day. It is stated at the Foreign Office that following the discussions with the French authorities the latter have decided to restore, within the next few days, to 100 per cent. the quotas respecting "A very abundant list of United Kingdom products." The situation will be further examined by the United Kingdom Government as soon as details of the forthcoming French action are known.—British Wireless Service.

NO DISCRIMINATORY TAXES ON LIQUOR IMPORTS

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1884. Received January 12, 8.40 a.m.)
Washington, To-day. The United States Senate, without a vote, yesterday repassed the Liquor Bill after killing Senator Clark's amendment for a discriminatory tax on wines and liquor imported from countries in arrears with war debt payments, by 44 votes to 30. The defeat of the amendment was due to the Administration members' efforts plus Speaker Rainey's statement that the House of Representatives would refuse it.—United Press per S.C. Gold Bar Co.

MOTOR VEHICLES IN BRITAIN IN 1933.

Increase Of 85,200 Over 1932.

REVENUE FROM LICENSES UP BY £790,000.

London, To-day. The gross amount received in Great Britain from motor licenses during last year amounted to £29,201,000, compared with £28,411,000 in the previous 12 months. The number of motor vehicles, exclusive of tractors and trade licenses, totalled 2,011,800, compared with 1,926,600 the year before. Cars registered for the first time last year showed a considerable increase over the number in 1932.—British Wireless Service.

FATEFUL DEBATE IN CHAMBER

PREMIER PROMISES CLEAN-UP AMONG POLITICIANS AND MAGISTRATES

PARIS, TO-DAY.

THE FATEFUL DEBATE ON THE BAYONNE BOND FRAUD WHICH OPENED YESTERDAY IN THE FRENCH CHAMBER OF DEPUTES, HAS BEEN ADJOURNED UNTIL TO-DAY AFTER A SPATE OF RECRIMINATIONS WHICH BROUGHT THE MINISTERS AND DEPUTIES CONCERNED HASTILY TO THEIR FEET IN REPUDIATION.

A fine impression was created by the Premier, M. Chautemps, who finally rose and spoke spiritedly without notes. He professed unconcern whether his Cabinet was overthrown or not, but expressed his determination to secure a thorough clean-up regardless of personalities or family ties (the Public Prosecutor, M. Pressard is the Premier's brother-in-law) and to prevent a repetition of such scandals.

He promised measures against the Magistrates responsible for Stavisky's trial being postponed 19 times and concluded with a rousing appeal to the Chamber to rally behind the Government to save the Parliamentary regime and public morality.

Though the Right and Centre Parties were silent prolonged cheers from the other benches signified that it is most probable that the Government will emerge safely to-day.—Reuter.

BRITISHER'S DEATH DUE TO SUICIDE

Theory That Copp Shot Himself.

THREE OF FOUR DETAINED MEN SET FREE

Tokyo, To-day. It is learned from an authoritative source in Yokohama that a pistol was found within a few inches of where the body was found of Mr. Alfred Copp, chartered accountant, whose death has stirred up much speculation here. The finding of the weapon indicates that Copp apparently shot himself on the sea-wall, the body falling into the sea with the pistol.

Of the four British subjects arrested Mr. Kruger, a marine surveyor, is expected to be released immediately. The other three men, Mr. Parsons, of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, Mr. Sheffield, fourth mate on the P. & O. "Corfu," and Mr. Attree, third wireless operator on the same vessel, have already been allowed to go.

It transpires that Copp left the New Grand Hotel at 12.45. His watch was found to have stopped at 12.55, indicating that he was shot within a few minutes of leaving.

Although Mr. Kruger is still being detained the police tend to the belief of suicide, and his release is shallow water under the sea-wall.—Reuter.

FALSE JAPANESE LABELS N.R.A. Emblem On 4,000 Cases Of Fish.

Washington, To-day. The United States Customs have seized 4,000 cases of Japanese tunny fish bearing the National Recovery Administration's "Blue Eagle" emblem which may only be used in the United States on goods produced under the N. R. A. conditions.—Reuter.

POLICE CHARGE CROWDS. Demonstrators Erect Barricades In Roads.

Paris, To-day.

Columns of Stavisky demonstrators, with renewed turbulence, tried to reach the Chamber of Deputies during the debate.

Repeated police charges countered the demonstrators who were erecting barricades in the middle of the main roads and using railings as weapons.

Numerous people were injured on both sides, and plenty of arrests were made.—Reuter.

Seven hundred arrests were made during the demonstrations outside the French Parliament yesterday afternoon.

Thirty police and 30 demonstrators have been admitted to the hospitals, but hundreds of others are known to have been injured.—Reuter.

NEW MINISTER TO CHINA. Sir George Cadogan Farewelled.

DINNER PARTY AT REFORM CLUB.

London, To-day. Sir George Cadogan, the recently appointed British Minister to China, was the guest of honour at a farewell dinner party given by the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, at the Reform Club, last night.

The guests included the Chinese Minister to London, Mr. Kuo Tai-chi, Mr. Wei Chang-chen, Viscount Cecil, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Sir Philip Sassoon and Sir Roderick Jones.

Messages of good wishes for Sir George Cadogan were received from the Premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord Chamberlain, and Mr. Arthur Henderson.

Sir George Cadogan was for several years Chairman of the League of Nations Committee on the Far East.—Reuter.

A Delegation from Burma has arrived in London to meet Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, to discuss the future of the constitution of their country, and its relationship with India. Separation from India is an important point of the discussion.—The delegation in conference at their hotel in London. In the centre is Dr. Miss Saw Sa, F.R.C.S., seated between M. Ba Pe and S. A. Tyabyl. Around them are Dr. Ba Maw, M. Chit Hlaing, M. Thein Maung and M. Shway Tha. Dr. Miss Saw Sa studied medicine in England. (S. & G.)

RELIGIOUS CRISIS IN GERMANY

INTOLERABLE POSITION

Berlin, To-day. Dr. Frick, the Minister of the Interior yesterday stated that it was agreed at a conference with pastor Bodelschwingh that the conditions of government of the United Evangelical Church of Germany were intolerable.

Pastor Bodelschwingh was a rival candidate for the office of Primate of the Church and is one of the leaders of the opposition to Bishop Mueller, the present Nazi Primate.

Meanwhile Pastor Beyer, the only minister left in Bishop Mueller's Church Cabinet, has resigned, leaving the Primate without even a provisional Cabinet.—Reuter.

CHINESE INSULTED IN GERMANY.

Offender Gaoled.

EXAMPLE FOR POLITENESS TO FOREIGNERS.

Berlin, To-day. A German has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment for insulting a Chinese merchant at a Duesseldorf restaurant, by calling him a "kafir" and a "dirty Japanese merchant."

The accused pleaded for leniency, but the Court decided to make an example of him so that all foreigners should be shown politeness.—Reuter.

YOUNG MARSHAL'S INTENTIONS.

Shanghai, To-day. It is understood that Marshal Chiang Hsueh-ling has received a telegram from General Chiang Kai-shek, but the contents have hitherto not been made public.—Reuter.

KUOMINTANG CONGRESS POSTPONEMENT

Shanghai, To-day. It is reliably learned that further postponement of the Kuomintang Congress, scheduled for January 20, is likely, as many members are unable to attend.

At the Central Executive Committee meeting yesterday, it was decided to postpone the Congress until after the National Assembly has met.—Reuter.

TROUBLE AT NEW BANK SITE

Delay In Payment Causes Riot.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT AT POLICE STATION

A mild commotion was caused in the city at about 2.30 this afternoon when a large band of Shanghai workmen from the new Hong Kong and Shanghai building site marched through Pedder Street on their way to the Central Police Station.

A hundred yards or so ahead were a couple of Chinese foremen, who appeared to be particular about keeping a fair distance between themselves and the workmen.

It was learned at the Central Police Station that the Chinese subcontractor had failed to pay the men their wages and had been set upon by the workmen.

At the Police Station the matter was settled to the satisfaction of both parties, the men returning to work shortly afterwards.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

Sir J. Simon Reports To President.

DATE OF NEXT MEETING TO BE FIXED

London, To-day. Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, accompanied by Mr. Strang of the Foreign Office, saw the President of the Disarmament Conference, Mr. Arthur Henderson, at his flat yesterday and informed him of the present position arising out of the "parallel and supplementary efforts" now in progress through diplomatic channels.

Mr. Aghnides, Director of the Disarmament Section of the League of Nations, was also present.

SERIOUS MADRID RIOTS BY FASCISTS EX-DICTATOR'S SON INVOLVED.

DAGGERS, CUDGELS AND IRON BARS USED

Madrid, To-day. One Fascist was shot dead and several wounded in clashes between the Fascists and workers in the centre of the city, yesterday.

The Combatants used daggers, cudgels and iron bars.

Signor Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, son of the late Spanish Dictator, General Primo de Rivera, who is the leader of the Fascists, was involved in the disturbance.

The Police charged repeatedly, and 50 arrests were made.

Fascists, selling their newspaper, were the cause of the outbreak.—Reuter.

SECRET MEETINGS ON RUBBER.

Smuggling Into Straits Settlements.

The Hague, To-day. A further secret meeting on rubber restriction was held here yesterday.

It is understood that the meeting discussed the fixation of a high quota for native planters in order to discourage smuggling to the Straits Settlements. Discussion showed that the problem was surrounded by difficulties.

The meeting will re-assemble at Amsterdam, later.—Reuter.

GAR WOOD'S PLANE CRASHES.

Narrow Escape For Speedboat Ace.

ONLY A COLD "DUCKING."

Port Huron, Michigan, To-day. Commodore Gar Wood, American motorboat racing ace, was involved in an aeroplane crash yesterday when the plane landed in a large puddle, covered with thin ice.

It is understood that the successful defender of the Harmsworth Trophy against Mr. Hugh Scott-Paine, the British ace, was uninjured.

A later cable states that Garwood was uninjured.—Reuter.

WARWICKSHIRE RUGBY CHAMPIONSHIP WIN North Midlands Beaten

London, To-day. Warwickshire beat the North Midlands by 18 points to 8 in the County Rugby Championship at Coventry yesterday.—Reuter.

The winning team is comprised mainly of players from Coventry and Worcester.

BRIDGE NOTES

CONTRACT BRIDGE BY ANCHORITE

A double is for penalties when: 1. Partner has previously bid, even if the opponents' doubled contract is only one odd, or 2. The doubled bid is at least two no-trump or a four bid in a suit. Any penalty double must be based on defeating the contract by two tricks. A free double or a double on a margin of one trick only is never advisable. A penalty double of suit bids below game contract should not be made, unless at least one trump trick is held by doubler.

The Rule

The Culbertson penalty double rule reads as follows:

Add the minimum number of honour tricks shown by partner's bid to honour tricks (and trump tricks, if any in the adverse suit) held in player's own hand, and subtract the total from 13. The balance will show the trick taking limits of the opponents' contract. If now the player expects to penalize the opponents by at least two tricks, the minimum margin of safety for any double, he may double when not expecting a greater gain at his own bid.

Example: Assuming that the dealer (South) opens with one club, West overcalls with one spade, and North holds: Spades Q J 10 9 6 4 Diamonds A K 7 Hearts 8 5 Clubs 9 4 The correct bid is a penalty double of the one spade bid. There are 4 tricks in spades, 2 in diamonds, plus 2 taking tricks shown by partner—in all at least 8 taking tricks. Opponents can therefore make at the most 5 out of the 13 tricks.

Partner should leave in the penalty double, even with a blank hand, unless his hand contains any important factor which is not known to doubler.

Partner should take out the penalty double when his hand contains certain important factors unknown to doubler.

Partner should take out the penalty double under the following conditions:

(1) When the distribution is very unbalanced (freakish), provided doubler is not aware of it.

(2) When it is evident that partner's hand is worthless against opponents' bid, provided, however, that it contains some elements of support for doubler's previous bid, and that the possible loss will not be serious.

(3) When partner, in bidding, has seriously misled doubler regarding the nature of his hand.

A safe penalty double against an adverse no-trump is based upon a count of honour tricks in the defending hands. If partnership hands can account for 5 honour tricks, the adverse one no-trump will, as a rule, be defeated by 2 tricks. The combined hands should establish 3 low cards in addition to the honour tricks—a total of 8 out of the 13 tricks. If the combined hands can account for 5 honour tricks, the adverse one no-trump will be defeated by at least 2 to 3 tricks. The count of honour tricks for penalty doubles must, however, not be absolutely relied upon. A no-trump contract can be successfully made with less honour strength when holding an established long suit. When considering a penalty double, distribution must, therefore, be carefully considered.

These bids are closely related to the take-out double, but show, as a rule, a much stronger hand.

José Antonio Primo de Rivera (left) son of the late Dictator Primo de Rivera who offered the services of the Fascist organization, of which he is leader, to the Spanish Government to aid in putting down disturbances which have taken toll of nearly 100 lives. At right Premier Diego Martines Barrios who directs government forces in suppressing the disorders.

Overall in Opponents' Suit With strong two-suiters and freaks, the take-out double should be avoided. In such situations an immediate overall in the adverse suit replaces the take-out double; it is a strength and a freak showing bid, and is like a gigantic take-out double.

Example: West (Dealer) bids one spade, North holds: Spades — Diamonds A K 7 3 Heart A Q J 8 Clubs K Q J 4 2 and overcalls with two spades. It is one of the most interesting inferential bids in Contract, and should be used whenever possible.

The overall may be used in three different situations:

(1) At a low stage of the bidding, by the responding or opening partner having opened the bidding.

(2) At a low stage of the bidding, by the responding or opening partner (partnership having opened the bidding), in place of a forcing take-out or a forcing rebid.

(3) In higher stages of the bidding by any player. As a rule this bid shows that the hand guarantees controls of the first lead of opponents' suit.

An immediate overall in the opponents' bid suit, made by the defending hand, is a forcing bid to game with the special meaning of a powerful take-out double. This bid shows a containing at least 4½ honour tricks, with a strong trump suit (4 sure trump tricks), or at least 4 honour tricks and a very freakish distribution usually with a void, the Ace or a singleton in the adverse suit—the total being at least 3 winners.

The player must always be prepared to find partner with a blank hand, in responding to an immediate overall in the opponents' bid suit. It is never necessary to jump the response, whatever honour strength is held, and the bidding must continue till game is reached.

A no-trump response does not necessarily imply 1 honour trick, but shows a stopper in opponents' suit. The only instance in which an overall in the suit bid by opponents does not require partner to take-out occurs when a take-out double is made first, followed by an overall in the opponents' suit. In this situation, the overall in the adverse bid suit, far from being forcing, shows a void in the opponents' bid suit, actually shows strength in that suit itself.

No Bid 2 Hearts

WILD LIFE FILM MADE IN MALAYA

Frank Buck's New "Thriller."

RECORD SIZE "RATTLER" CAUGHT

Hollywood.

Mr. Frank Buck, the man who brings wild animals back alive has cabled from Singapore that several weeks of good weather have enabled him to get all the material he wants for a new picture entitled "Wild Cargo" which is now in production, and that the film includes many thrills that were not originally contemplated. He succeeded in photographing the capture of a rare white rhinoceros and after the animal was thought to be safely secured it managed to break loose and charged his captors. It was recaptured only after a hard and dangerous fight but in spite of the danger Nicholas Cavallieri, the cameraman kept his cameras grinding and Mr. Buck says that this sequence alone has enough thrills to make a complete picture in itself.

Mr. Buck also succeeded in capturing a King Cobra snake of record proportions. It was his ambition to make this scene in 1932 when filming "Bring 'Em Back Alive" but although many King Cobra snakes were seen, they were all of only average size and rather than make this scene in a mediocre fashion, he waited until a really large snake could be found. Many experienced hunters claim that the King Cobra snake is the most dangerous foe of man that can be found in the jungle.

In addition to many thousand feet of film depicting the thrills of a big game hunter, Mr. Buck is "bringing home alive" a large assortment of animals he succeeded in bringing while on his trip.—Reuter.

a strong heart suit. East easily infers that West is not forcing to game, for if he had wished to instead of doubling first. Any responses made by East are free and must be based on above inferences.

This kind of bid is an effective weapon against a "psychic" or bluff bid made by an opponent.

ALLEGED MURDER IN 1920

Native Charged With 13-Year-Old Crime.

CURIOUS CASE IN NATAL

Maritzburg.

A 13-year-old warrant of arrest, tattered and soiled, its ink faded and its corners dog-eared, was an exhibit in a murder case before the City Magistrate's Court.

The warrant formed part of the papers in the case in which a native, Lili Mtolo, was charged with the murder of another native at New Hanover in January, 1920.

Following a tax defalcation recently, Mtolo was arrested on the warrant issued against him in 1920 and he appeared before Mr. T. S. Oliver, who adjourned the case.

The warrant bears the signature of the Magistrate at New Hanover on February 12, 1920.

There is also on the warrant a small additional note to the effect that a native constable had arrested the wrong man on the charge. It was written in March by a sergeant of the South African Mounted Rifles in charge of the police camp at New Hanover.

Early in April, 1920, the South African Police took over duty from the South African Mounted Rifles throughout Natal. The 13-year-old warrant must, therefore, be one of the last issued under the old South African Mounted Rifles regime.—Reuter.

PLUCKY DISPLAY BY LOSERS

(By IMP)

Despite a very plucky display against a team better than themselves, "B" Company Lincolns were defeated by 4 goals to 1 by "A" Company Punjabis in the First Round of the Garrison Inter-Company Knock-out Hockey Competition yesterday afternoon at Sham-shaipo.

"B" Company attacked from the start, Barnaby and Marsh going close in the opening minutes. Mason, who was playing well in goal for the Lincolns, was rather unlucky when at the end of 20 minutes a terrific shot from MANGA SINGH struck the upright, and the spin on the ball carried it a few inches over the line to give the Punjabis the lead.

Two minutes later, however, good work by Maynard and Reynolds sent BARNSEY through to equalise, giving Mohd no chance from short range.

Shortly afterwards DULA SINGH regained the lead when he scored from a short corner, while just before the interval LAL SINGH increased the Indians' lead.

The second half was fought at a fast pace, many exciting and thrilling moments occurring, but only one goal accrued in this half, when after 17 minutes JAGIR SINGH made the total into four.

L/Cpl. Platt, the Lincolns' right back, was the outstanding player on the field, giving a brilliant all-round display, breaking up attack after attack.

U.S.R.C. SQUASH
DRAW.

Big Entry List.

The following is the draw for the U.S.R.C. Squash Rackets Tournament, the First Round of which is to be completed by January 20:

First Round.
Lieut. R. J. Walker (R.E.) v. Capt. C. T. Ingle (Lincolns); Squadron Leader C. R. Keary (R.A.F.) v. Mid. G. E. D. Finch-Noyes (Kent); Lieut. H. Norman (Berwick) v. L. Goldman; Lieut. W. J. R. Grace (Lincolns) v. Lieut. C. C. Garthwaite (R.A.).

Second Round.
Lieut. Walker or Capt. Ingle v. Squadron Leader Keary or Mid. Finch-Noyes; Lieut. Norman or L. Goldman v. Lieut. Grace or Lieut. Garthwaite; Comdr. C. T. Addis (Medway) v. Lieut. F. N. Elliott (Whitehall); Lieut. H. F. Waring (R.A.) v. Flying Officer J. W. Hunt (R.A.F.); Capt. P. J. Williams (R.A.) v. Mid. G. E. D. Finch-Noyes (Kent); Lieut. C. C. Reed (Kent) v. P. S. Cannon (A.E.C.); Lieut. H. D. Tollinton (R.A.); Mid. R. F. Colville (Berwick) v. Mid. G. A. Knecher (Berwick); Capt. D. Dunlop (R.A.) v. Major W. L. Eastwick-Field (R.A.).

half, played a marvellous game, and had it not been for him the Lincolns would no doubt have met with more success during their constant raids.

Punjabis—Nowi Mohd, Tara Singh, Bugga Singh, Kobar Singh, Dula Singh, Balwant Singh, Arjan Singh, Manga Singh, Jagir Singh, Lal Singh and Gurabachan Singh.

Lincolns—Mason, Platt, Bacon, Brindley, Wilkinson, L. Colter, Marsh, Manson, Barnaby, Reynolds and Maynard.

MEDWAY RESULTS.

H.M.S. Medway Lower Deck drew with the Radio at Happy Valley, sharing 2 goals. G. Singh scored first for the Radio, and Holmes equalised for the Medway.

The Medway also shared four goals with the Punjabis and KI on the Marlin ground yesterday, playing with only ten men.

Recreio "A"
Challenged In Caer Clark Cup

Miss Walker New C.B.A.
Discovery.

H. K. LADIES AT FULL STRENGTH
(BY STICKS)

THE Hong Kong Ladies, champions for the past three seasons, and the St. Andrew's Ladies should continue unchecked in the Caer Clark Cup hockey competition, but Recreio "A", also unbeaten, are likely to be seriously tested when they meet the greatly improved Central British Association team.

The following are the matches:

H. K. Ladies v. C.B.A. (Sookunpoo, 3.15 p.m.)

St. Andrew's v. Recreio "B" (Marina, 3.15 p.m.)

Recreio "A" v. C.B.A. (King's Park, 3.15 p.m.)

The Central British Association have found a very promising full-back in Miss S. K. Walker, and her debut game for the team last Saturday was very encouraging. She will replace Mrs. Hudson in the defence line, partnering Miss P. Woolley.

The team has now settled down to sound combination, and should fully extend the Recreio, although the latter team are favourites.

Miss E. Beavis and Miss M. Bryson are two very steady half-backs who will be very hard to beat. The Recreio seniors are unchanged after their victory over the "V" Ladies by an only goal, and in recent friendly matches have given a good indication of the serious challenge which they were offering this year.

Miss A. Alves is their leading scorer, while Miss M. Basto, the captain, is outstanding in defence.

Miss Pope Playing
The Hong Kong Ladies' are fielding a very strong team for their match against the Schoolgirls.

They are including Miss Pope, who was unable to play in the trials in preparation for the forthcoming visit of the Australia Ladies' while Mrs. B. Goldman is replacing Mrs. Selby on the wing.

The Schoolgirls will field the same team as that which gained the points against the Recreio "B" last Saturday.

Recreio Juniors' Change
The St. Andrew's Club Ladies' are expected to gain their fourth successive victory when they meet the Recreio "B" eleven on the Marina ground. The same team which overcame the strong "V" Ladies eleven will take the field.

Saints Beat
Incognitos By Big Margin

All Three Goals In First Half.

(BY STICKS).

IN a very fast game on the Marina ground yesterday the St. Andrew's Club hockey eleven easily defeated the Incognitos by three goals to all in a friendly encounter after having the better part of play throughout.

The Saints gave a good all-round display, White and Broadbridge at back being exceptionally sound. E. F. Fincher opened the scoring for the Saints soon after the start and E. C. Fincher added the second goal a little later.

The Incognitos made a stern reply, but failed to score, and before half-time, R. Baldwin netted the Saints third goal after a good effort on the left-wing.

The Incognitos improved in the second half, but the Saints still held the upper hand, E. C. Fincher missing a "sitter" when in front of the goal. B. H. Wong, in goal cleared a very fast shot from Pintos towards the end of the game.

St. Andrew's—R. H. Wong, E. H. P. White, F. A. Broadbridge, E. MacNider, A. E. P. Guest, A. B. Hanson, G. A. White, A. N. Omer, E. F. Fincher, E. C. Fincher and R. Baldwin. Incognitos—C. Soares, A. A. Remedios, F. H. Barros, G. P. Victor, W. A. Reed, A. J. Barbo, A. P. de Silva, J. M. Pintos, O. de Sousa, S. Reed and A. P. Soares.

QUARTERS OF 23 AND 25

A track record over half a mile is claimed to have been established by Mr. Stephen Lam's Atlas, a new Australian who burned up the track in 0.48.0 with quarters of 23 and 25 seconds.

This time on the sand track during a training gallop followed on his 0.51.0 effort a fortnight ago.

MISS POPE
OUTSTANDING IN TRIAL MATCH

Miss Churchill Best
Forward.

MRS. LOWE SHINES

(BY OUTSIDE LEFT)

THE fine constructive display of Miss B. Pope at centre-half was the outstanding feature in the final ladies' hockey trial to select the team to meet the Australian Ladies' at Sookunpoo yesterday.

Although not as hard a hitter as Miss Wong, she did more for her forwards than Miss Wong, who, although she did break up several of the opposing side's attacks, placed the ball blindly, seldom sending passes to either Miss Churchill or Miss Brown on the left wing.

M. Woolley had an off day, and could do very little right, although she scored the only goal for the Probables.

J. Churchill was the outstanding forward, her neat wrist-work being conspicuous throughout the game.

Of the two backs, A. Fowler intercepted nicely on occasions, but until she settles down properly and takes her time in clearances, she will not make a very safe back. E. Gray was erratic and inclined to wander. She stopped several promising forward movements, but lacked sense of direction in her clearances.

Mrs. Rose was very weak in goal and let through four very simple goals.

Of the wing halves, Mrs. M. K. Lowe was outstanding. She put in a tremendous amount of work breaking up the opposing attack.

I. Woolley played a hard game for the Mixed eleven, but hit wildly, her passing to her winger being very mediocre and lacking in power.

P. Gittens, who deputised for H. Knill on the right wing, gave a very promising display and flashed across innumerable centres which went begging owing to J. Dalziel being out of position and M. Woolley poaching badly to rob J. Churchill on countless occasions.

COLONY TEAM
SELECTED

Miss Fowler And Mrs.
Lowe Secure Places.

MISS WONG PREFERRED TO
MISS POPE

THE final selection of the Hong Kong Ladies' team to meet the Australian Ladies' touring team (this month) was made after the trial yesterday.

The most notable changes are the inclusion of Miss A. Fowler at left back in place of Miss B. Helbling and Mrs. M. K. Lowe in place of Miss I. Woolley at right half.

Miss J. Wong has retained her position at centre-half in preference to Miss B. Pope.

The following is the team:
Mrs. B. Rose (St. Andrew's), Miss F. M. Gray (H. K. Ladies), Miss A. Fowler ("V" Ladies), Miss M. Wallace (H. K. Ladies), Miss J. Wong (St. Andrew's), Mrs. M. K. Lowe (H. K. Ladies), Miss H. Knill (C. B. S.), Miss J. Dalziel (H. K. Ladies), Miss M. Woolley (St. Andrew's), Miss J. Churchill (H. K. Ladies), Miss D. Brown ("V" Ladies), Reserves—Miss B. Helbling (H. K. Ladies), Miss B. Pope (H. K. Ladies) and Miss P. Gittens (St. Andrew's).

LINCOLNS MAY MAKE UP LOST GROUND

STIFF HURDLE PRESENTED BY BORDERERS

UNDERWOOD OR JONES?

ONE important outcome of to-morrow's First Division soccer matches may be that the Lincolns will regain a little of the ground they lost last week in their race against South China and St. Joseph's for the leadership.

The Lincolns will be at home to the Borderers and will start favourites in view of their overwhelming triumph by five clear goals in their first encounter.

The Lincolns were completely outplayed in their encounter against South China, whereas the Borderers performed well against the East Lanes on Wednesday and showed fine understanding among the halves and forwards.

Jenkins, who deputised for Mulderers on Wednesday, but they lack stamina in the second half and were run off their feet.

In the Second Division the Navy and Club meet on the latter's ground where the Club are expected to secure a win in view of the Navy being weakened by the calls of the first team.

Borderers Should Win
The Borderers, who are hanging grimly on to the heels of South China in the Second Division, should win easily against Kowloon, while South China, the leaders, should have the better of the Young Indians.

A good game should result when the Lincolns and the Athletic clash at Chatham Road. The latter, however, have fallen right off this season in spite of having won the Division Championship last year.

Sunday's Game
On Sunday South China play the Artillery in a First Division fixture at Sookunpoo and should retain their challenging position in the table.

South China have now definitely given us an indication of their strength, and are making a bold bid for the retention of the championship.

The following is my forecast:—

To-morrow.

FIRST DIVISION
v CLUB (King's Park, 4 p.m.)
ST. JOSEPH'S v Royal Navy (Caroline Hill, 4 p.m.)
Lincolns v Borderers (Kowloon, 4 p.m.)
East Lanes v KOWLOON (Sookunpoo, 4 p.m.)

SECOND DIVISION
v Club (Club, 2.30 p.m.)
Kowloon v BORDERERS (Kowloon, 2.30 p.m.)
SOUTH CHINA v Young Indians (Caroline Hill, 2.30 p.m.)
LINCOLNS v Athletic (Chatham Road, 2.30 p.m.)

THIRD DIVISION
v South China (Happy Valley, 2.30 p.m.)
LINCOLNS v University (Chatham Road, 4 p.m.)
Recreio (King's Park, 2.30 p.m.)
Radio v R.A.F. (St. Joseph's, 2.30 p.m.)
SUNDAY

FIRST DIVISION
v SOUTH CHINA (Sookunpoo, 4 p.m.)
PROBABLE TEAMS

LAST BRITISH WIN IN 1925

NOT since 1925 has a British player won the Colony Lawn Tennis Singles Championship, and not since 1921 has a British pair won the Doubles.

This year, however, W. A. Duff is likely to make a bold challenge for the Singles title. He is partnering A. L. Sullivan, former H.K.C.C. champion, in the doubles and the pair will probably offer the Rumjahn cousins the most serious challenge they have had during their nine years of supremacy.

Invited to play for Canada in the Davis Cup series in 1931, but unable to accept owing to the fact that he was not in the Dominion at the time, Duff represented Canada at Wimbledon in 1930.

Duff won the Shanghai title in 1931 when he beat Gordon Lum in the semi-final and Khoo Hooi Hye in the Final. In the following year he again entered the championship, though sorely lacking in practice, and it came as no surprise when Khoo turned the tables on him after he had eliminated Guy Cheng in the Semi-Final.

Injured Last February

He was injured playing squash in February of last year and has only just recovered from it.

Fully extended by E. C. Fincher and L. Goldman during the last two Finals of the Rumjahn cousins are likely to be faced with their biggest task in nine years. The British pair have already put in extensive practice in preparation for the Championship, which opens at the H.K.C.C. on Monday, February 5, and for which entries close to-morrow at 6 p.m.

Sullivan partnered Goldman until 1932 when Teddy Fletcher broke up his partnership with his brother and successfully paired with Goldman as Gilman's representatives.

Capt. C. H. D. O'Callaghan was the last British player to win the singles title, beating T. Honds in the 1925 Final, while Dick Hancock and H. Hancock won the doubles title in an all-British Final in 1921 when they beat Major H. M. Edwards and B. Townsend. Sirdar Rumjahn is the singles holder, and, partnered by his cousin "H.D." is the doubles champion.

"A" Company Win Soccer
And Cross-Country.

TRIUMPH FOR LT. BEAUMONT

DURING their stay in Camp at Fanning the East Lancashire have played off their annual Inter-Company Football League for which points are awarded towards an aggregate for the Sports Shield.

"A" Company have proved successful in the soccer competition, only losing one match.

The Company Hockey league is now in progress.

On Saturday a Cross-Country run was held and "A" Company again proved successful, Lieut. Beaumont being the first man home.

It is probable that the Novices' Boxing Competition for the Martin Cup will be staged before the Battalion leave Sun Wat, the competitors being already in training.

WONG'S APPEAL FAILS

The appeal against suspension by Wong, Lieut.-Colonel, South China soccer forward, was dismissed by the F.A. Council last night. He is to make a further appeal to the Appeals Board.

Mr. H. Hall was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the departure of Mr. T. A. Mitchell, on the Council and the Emergency Committee.

NANNING RADIO SCHOOL

Kwangsi Government Programme.

ALL DISTRICTS COMPELLED TO SEND STUDENTS

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Wuchow, Jan. 9. The Kwangsi Provincial Government has established a Primary Radio School at Nanning, the capital city of Kwangsi Province. The opening of this new school is the first step taken by the Government toward introducing radio reception in the Province.

In furthering its radio programme the Government compels each one of the 110 Districts of Kwangsi Province to send one student to the Radio School at the expense of the local District.

After attending the Radio School for a period of three months, the successful students are graduated and return to their respective districts, where they put into operation a radio set, which is furnished by the Provincial Government at the expense of each district.

All expenses connected with the operation of the radio sets are borne by the Districts where the sets are operated, including a salary of $20 per month to the radio operator.

In some of the Districts where students have graduated and returned, the receiving sets are giving good service and, with sufficient dry battery power, as many as ten broadcasting stations have been logged by the operators.

The stations tuned in include Nanking, Tokyo, Manila, Hong Kong, and Canton. For the most part, however, they are content with receiving the daily news broadcast from Nanking.

The radio sets have been purchased from Hong Kong, and bear the name of the dealer.

OLD HONG KONG RESIDENT DEAD.

Mr. A. W. Millar.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

The death occurred yesterday at the French Hospital of Mr. Andrew William Millar, of Lockhart Road, a well-known local resident, at the age of 65.

Deceased was born in Edinburgh and came to Hong Kong when a child with his parents. He was educated at the old Central Government School Hong Kong and for ten years was employed at Taihook Dock as assistant head time-keeper. In 1912 Mr. Millar was employed at the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock and in 1920 joined the firm of Messrs. Leigh and Orange, Civil Engineers, architects and surveyors as clerk of works. Nine years later he set up in a business of his own as a building contractor.

Mr. Millar was an active Freemason being a member of the St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, No. 218 S. C., and a Master Mason of St. John's Lodge, Hong Kong, No. 618.

He leaves a widow, one son, a daughter-in-law and two grandchildren.

The funeral takes place this afternoon, passing the Monument at 5.15 p.m.

FUNERAL OF LATE MR. A. L. ALVES.

Choral Service.

MANY TOKENS OF RESPECT

The funeral of Mr. A. L. Alves, who died at the Canossa Hospital on Wednesday, took place yesterday afternoon at the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Happy Valley. The service, which was choral, was conducted by Father P. Spada, assisted by Fathers F. R. Noval, A. Granelli, N. Moestrini, L. Rossi and A. Rossella.

A large gathering attended the funeral, among those present being his two brothers, Chevalier J. M. Alves and H. A. Alves, Mr. and Mrs. Leo D'Almada e Castro (snr.), Leo D'Almada e Castro (junr.), C. D'Almada e Castro, J. A. S. Alves, E. Abraham, J. J. Basto, P. V. Botelho, F. H. Barnes, S. Berg, S. M. Chiriz, E. J. de Siqueiredo, C. Hirose, C. Kow, H. M. N. Nemuse, D. L. King, R. Pestoni, J. Post's Amazing Record May Stand for Years

Wiley Post's remarkable solo flight around the world in 7 days, 16 hours and 43 minutes, established a record that, in the opinion of aviation experts, will take years to beat. Here is how Post's record compares with other marks:

Ferdinand Magellan, 1519-22—by sailing vessel, 2 years, 11 months and 23 days.

Nellie Bly, 1889—by steamship and train, 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes.

John Henry Mears, 1913—steamship and train, 35 days, 21 hours.

Linton Wells and Edward Evans, 1926—by steamship, auto, airplane and train, 25 days, 14 hours, 6 minutes.

Mears and C. B. D. Collyer, 1928—by steamship and airplane, 25 days, 16 hours and 21 minutes.

Dirigible Graf Zeppelin, 1929-31—21 days, 7 hours, 34 minutes.

Post and Gatty, 1931—by airplane, 8 days, 15 hours and 49 minutes.

PLANNING AND COOKERY

Basic Recipes as a Key to the Art of Cooking. (Weldons, 4s 6d.) Planning and the group system are the fashion nowadays, and the mode has spread to cookery. It has produced a most excellent book in "Basic Recipes," which makes plain the path of the housewife with a series of charts looking like a family tree in one of Mr. Walpole's novels. Over 500 different dishes—including many delicacies of Continental origin—blossom from the root of eighty basic recipes.

The bases of cooking, as here explained, are roasting, braising, frying, or grilling, dough of batter, white and brown roux, &c. Puddings, for instance are not classified together; e.g., fritters or pancakes come under the batter recipe, while chocolate pudding is classified under the basic recipe for choux pastry.

The book is illustrated with helpful, practical photographs, and has, furthermore, a washable cover, and a detailed, alphabetical index.

HEARTENING STORY OF PRAIRIES

Simplicity Keynote Of Fine Novel.

Let the Hurricane Roar. By Rose Wilder Lane. (Longmans, 6s.)

There is an element of shining quality about this book—a natural, as distinct from a mannered, simplicity of statement—which achieves genuine beauty. It is a story of immense fortitude and resource on the part of a young couple who set out with their few belongings to make a home for themselves, ahead of the railway, on the virgin American prairie.

Charles and Caroline, for all the economy of their presentation, are real, vital people, and one's only regret is that the narrative is not carried further than the first terrible year. The agony with which they watch their first magnificent crop devoured by the grasshoppers is nothing short of poignant drama, which is increased when the insects invade their little dug-out home.

Caroline and the baby, while Charles looks for work, are stranded by circumstance through the fierce winter in the dug-out. But he returns in the end, and we leave them happy in each other and facing the future with the same indomitable spirit. This is a heartening story magnificently told.

"THE WORKING MAN POET."

Critical Study Of English Bard.

When Mr. W. H. Davies began to write verse, a good many years ago, he was hailed as the "working man poet." Now he is the poet, and a critical study of him has been written by Mr. Thomas Moulit for Thornton Butterworth. Mr. Moulit regards Mr. Davies as one of the most original figures in English poetry since Robert Herrick. He is giving conversations with him, as well as some hitherto unpublished poems by him.

Solving Crime In A Dream

An Ingenious Piece Of Detection.

Epilogue. By Bruce Graeme.

(Hutchinson, 7s. 6d.)

Superintendent Stephens, of the Criminal Investigation Department, fell asleep over a copy of "Edwin Drood."

He dreamed, and in his dream he was given the job of clearing up the mystery. That's a good start for a book, and Mr. Graeme takes full advantage of his excellent idea. Here the Drood mystery that has engaged so many minds is made plain; and whether you accept Mr. Graeme's conclusion or not, you must admire the technique by which the conclusion is arrived at. It would be unfair to Mr. Graeme to hint at his answer to the question that Dickens asked. Make yourself acquainted with it if you would enjoy an ingenious piece of detection.

Irish Crisis Looming

After the enactment of the bill to abolish the oath of allegiance in the Irish Free State, Mr. de Valera told the Dail that he hoped to proclaim "the Republic" when the people should have intimated their pleasure on that point. Mr. de Valera has been careful so far to avoid any more definite indication of his purpose. Speaking a few months ago on "forms and symbols of a sovereign nation," he said: "Let us remove these forms one by one, so that this State we control may be a republic in fact, and that, when the time comes, the proclaiming of a republic may be no more than a ceremony, the formal application of a status already attained." Most of those forms and symbols have now been removed. In defiance of the treaty of 1921, a bargain of which the terms can be altered by neither party on its own action alone (as the British Government holds), the Free State Government has abolished the oath of allegiance, the powers of the Governor-General and his privileges as King's representative in the Constitution, and the Empire-wide right of appeal to the King-in-Council. Last month the British Government felt itself bound to take notice of these acts of the Free State Government and Parliament in contravention of the treaty. The repudiation of an association with the Crown clearly provokes a political crisis. No Imperial Conference could ignore the development, and the provocation to Ulster, where the Unionists have been returned at local elections with another overwhelming majority, is direct and potent for mischief. For some time the British Government's disposition has been to allow the de Valera Government time to test the benefits (if any) of its isolationist policy. The loss of trade consequent upon the tariff war with Britain has increased the Free State's financial troubles. Mr. de Valera retains office on his personal popularity with the Southern Irish majority, but even the electors who have supported him dislike prospects of increased taxation and the violence of the I.R.A. For a time there was some prospect that a drawing together of Free State interests opposed to republicanism would provide a natural solution. Mr. Cosgrave, for instance, had been telling Dublin audiences that "a republic for the 26 counties (that is, the Free State) could be had—what it is worth—immediately and without Parliamentary diffculty. But who wants it?" What Ireland really wants is Irish union, and Irish union, said Mr. Cosgrave, could come only by agreement and goodwill with Ulster, and within the membership of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Mr. de Valera's difficulty is that, while he may strive for either the ending of Irish partition or the establishment of a Free State Republic, he cannot have both together. Does he mean now to proclaim a Free State Republic and then make a grievance of "British opposition" in the refusal of Ulster to join it? The recent legislation to sever connection with the Crown drew from Mr. Thomas (Secretary for the Dominions) last month a statement that if the Free State meant to denounce its membership of the British Commonwealth it could not expect to retain the advantages accompanying such membership. Mr. de Valera replied that "the Irish people have never sought the responsibilities and privileges of such membership." Since these public exchanges, notes have passed between Dublin and London, and Mr. Thomas held his own in the exchange. Mr. de Valera challenged Mr. Thomas to indicate Britain's intentions in the event of a republic being proclaimed, and Mr. Thomas replied that such a republic would be denied trading advantages with Britain enjoyed by Empire countries, and that Free State citizens resident in British territories would probably be given the choice of remaining British subjects or becoming aliens. Many Irish residents in Britain view the prospect with misgiving. There is every reason why the British Government should do its utmost to avoid the crisis and make another effort to bring about agreement with the Free State Government. The whole Empire should feel the repercussions of such a crisis, despite the announced intention of the British Government to deal with the Free State dispute as one not affecting the dominions. One thing certain is that any such drastic step by the Free State Government as that indicated would antagonise Ulster, and set a greater gulf than ever between the Irish sections. But it seems that the extremists of the I.R.A. are forcing this desperate policy upon their dictator, Mr. MacDermot, vice-president of the United Ireland party, opposed to Mr. de Valera, wrote recently to the "Manchester Guardian" agreeing that "sooner or later I think 'pretty soon' we have got to opt in or out of the Commonwealth." He urged as all Empire peoples will hope, that at least the issue should be clear put at such an election, and the merits and demerits of the alternative courses made clear to the Free State people.

Age Of A Dictator

Marshal Pilsudski is 66 years of age. Until a few years ago one knew his exact age. And no member of his staff dared to ask the gruff dictator for the information. The secret was revealed in 1928.

In that year the still unsettled dispute between Poland and Lithuania was at its height. The Lithuanian dictator, Waldemaras, had gone to Geneva to arraign the Polish Government before the League Council.

Abruptly, as is his manner, Pilsudski decided to confront Waldemaras in Geneva.

To cross Germany he needed a diplomatic passport. They require particulars of birth. Reluctantly Pilsudski supplied this information.

Dominoes And Patience

At 66 he is the oldest, but one of the most vigorous of the European dictators.

His only exercise is an early morning walk in the gardens of the Belvedere, the 18th century mansion in which he lives on the outskirts of Warsaw.

He works all day. In the evening he plays dominoes or patience with his daughters, and drinks tea.

His chief ambition is to create good relations for Poland with Russia and Germany. He has succeeded in conciliating the Soviets. He is now engaged in conciliating Germany. He has succeeded in conciliating the Soviets. He is now engaged in conciliating Germany.

Working It Out

The mistress of the house took a friendly interest in her maid. One day she asked how her love affair was progressing.

"Oh, I've given that fellow up now," said the girl coldly.

The mistress expressed her regret and hoped the girl would be successful another time.

Two days later she saw her maid out with the same young man.

"Mary," she said in tones of surprise when the girl returned. "I thought you told me you had given up that young man?"

"That's right, ma'am, I have," said the girl airily; "but you see what it is, he hasn't finished working in out his fortnight's notice yet."

Making Sure

The curtain rang down on the pantomime, and the artistes retired to their dressing-rooms.

"Did you see the lovely bunch of roses handed to me over the footlights?" said the principal body.

"But they were meant for the principal girl," said the fairy princess.

"How do you know that?" asked the principal boy sharply.

"I was with her in the florist's when she ordered them," explained the other.

Why They Were Odd

Little Benny looked up at his mother thoughtfully.

"Mum," he said, a frown on his face, "tell me—did you get me in a bargain basement?"

"What ever makes you think that, Benny?" mother asked.

The boy held up his hand. "I was just wondering," he replied. "You see, my fingers are all odd sizes."

LADIES OF THE 1933
SCREENVINTAGE YEAR FOR TALKING-PICTURES

ACTRESSES TAKE HONOURS

(By Seton Margrave.)

The toast is "To the Ladies!" In no previous film year has the ascendancy of the actress over the actor been so complete as in 1933. I am sure that 1933 will not be remembered as a vintage year, in the world of talking pictures, in spite of its having yielded four very brilliant productions; but this does not in any way detract from the excellence of the work done by women in films in the past twelve months.

On the contrary, there are two circumstances which definitely give additional merit to the work of the women stars.

We have had a number of outstanding performances by men. Looking back, I recall really magnificent acting by Clive Brook in "Cavalcade," by George Arliss in "The Working Man," by Conrad Veidt in "I Was a Spy" and "The Wandering Jew," by Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII," by Wallace Beery in "Flesh," and by John Barrymore in "Rasputin: the Mad Monk."

"Topaze," and "Reunion in Vienna." Also, in looking back on 1933, we have to remember that women were handicapped by the prolonged holidays in Europe of Norma Shearer and Greta Garbo, and we have to say that the work of Ann Harding, Helen Hayes, and Ruth Chatterton has not generally been up to the highest standards associated with their names.

It may, therefore, be said that the opposition from men has been quite formidable and that women have been playing throughout the year considerably under strength. All the same, the women easily carry off the acting honours in the talking pictures of 1933.

Whom then should we consider to be the star of the year?

We have to consider a number of names, and, although, country of origin can have no bearing on our final decision, it will make for simplicity of analysis if we take first the work of British actresses and then the work of American actresses.

British "Stars" Disappoint

I should say that, as a whole, the work of British actresses in Hollywood has been disappointing.

Elissa Landi, whom we have had reason to regard as the leading English actress in Hollywood, has had, in the light of her previous performances, an indifferent year.

Benita Hume, Heather Angel, Elizabeth Allan have been hardly more successful because of lack of real opportunity.

Lillian Harvey has not yet quite reached in Hollywood the standard of her best work in Berlin.

British actresses who have remained in London have fared decidedly better than those who have gone abroad.

Gracie Fields and Cicely Courtneidge have still to find ideal film material, but their popularity has definitely increased.

With regard to American actresses, I note with great pleasure the advancement of Fay Wray and Madge Evans. Both have survived more abused parts than any other twenty actresses in films, so that their advancement is as richly deserved as it is unconsciously belated. Nothing but ingratitude, plus stupidity, on the part of Hollywood—and it is capable of both—can long delay their arrival in the star class.

Kay Francis must be noted for her very polished acting in "Cynara" and Karen Morley for a piece of exceptional emotional work in "Flash."

Mae West's Sensation

Mae West, by her exploitation of the comedy of unrestraint in "She Done Him Wrong" and "I'm No Angel," has been the sensation of the year in the American film world, but her humour is of too coarse a strain to be generally acceptable to British filmgoers, while her acting is so definitely and defiantly set in one groove as to make it impossible for me to consider her a serious candidate for the film honours of 1933.

Jean Harlow, who might be regarded as an exponent of the same type of drama as Mae West, is very much better because, quite apart from her youth and grace, she has considerable versatility. Many people consider her performance in

In "This is the Life," Binnie Hale is a notable discovery. Anna Neagle has deservedly advanced in the favour of filmgoers. Binnie Barnes and Merle Oberon have been fortunate in having important parts in "The Private Life of Henry VIII."

I feel, however, that the best work of the year by any British actress working in London has been done by Madeleine Carroll in "I Was a Spy."

Madeleine Carroll is surrounded by actors of exceptional ability in this talking picture, and yet she is able to act up to the importance of the part she has to play and keep constantly before the mind of the spectator that, in spite of the scene of war, this is the drama of a woman. That is a fine thing to have achieved.

Diana Wynyard's Triumph

Of the British actresses who have gone to Hollywood, the most successful has been Diana Wynyard—of course.

I remember Arthur Jarratt, of the Gaumont British cinemas, saying to me at the time "Cavalcade" appeared: "I wish it would be possible for Diana Wynyard to appear in no other film so that I could always remember her for just this one performance."

That statement, from the shrewdest judge of films in Britain, accurately assessed the perfection of Diana Wynyard's performance in "Cavalcade."

THE DRAGON OF MANCHUKUO.

SEADROME CHAIN FOR ATLANTIC

American Engineer Designs "Islands."

U.S. GOVERNMENT GRANTS $300,000 FOR TESTS

New York.

Behind the ambitious scheme taken up by the United States Government to span the Atlantic with a chain of huge floating islands, and to provide a 24-hour airplane service between the Old World and the New, lie 16 years of experimenting by an American engineer, Mr. Edward R. Armstrong, of Holyoke Delaware.

His completed designs for the five 'seadromes' to be placed at 500-mile distances between New York, the Azores and Vigo, Spain, contain some spectacular constructional features, believed capable of rendering the islands safe in the worst Atlantic storms and of assuring stable anchorage at depths of 3 1/2 to 4 miles.

As at present proposed, the Armstrong seadromes provide for a landing surface of 6 acres, nearly a quarter of a mile in length and from 50 to 100 yards in width, the broader section representing the central field and the narrower sections extensions at each end. The platforms will ride the water 100 feet above the surface, so that the highest waves can pass beneath them.

Twenty-eight caisson-like columns, or legs, each a hundred yards in length, support the landing surface, the upper portions being fitted with oval-shaped buoyancy tanks, extending from the deck to depths far below the surface. The lower portions of these supports consist of cast-iron columns, weighted at the ends with ballast chambers filled with water and cast-iron or iron ore.

The whole structure is designed to ride the ocean like a gigantic table held aloft in the water by the buoyancy tanks and stabilised by the ballast chambers, which tread the water 200 feet below the surface.

1,500-Ton Anchors.

The seadrome landing fields will be clear of all superstructures, hangars for 50 planes and housing accommodation being arranged for in two or three decks immediately below them. The plans provide for elevators large enough to handle planes with a wing span of 120 feet, and for elaborate equipment including hotels, radio stations, directional guiding beams, beacons, ocean-going cutters, derricks and a system of air and water rudders to prevent wind yaw and to aid in keeping the seadromes trailing into the wind.

A saucer-shaped anchor of concrete reinforced with iron, weighing 1,500 tons, is proposed for each seadrome, so designed that it can be floated to the seadrome station and then sunk by flooding. It will require an 18,000-foot cable, to be attached to a large, lighted buoy. The seadrome in turn will be fastened to the buoy by a 1,000-foot cable.

With five seadromes, four west of the Azores and one east, the average flight requirements between stations is set at 600 miles, a distance well within the payload capabilities of modern passenger planes.

$300,000 Income Foreseen. The United States Government has allotted $300,000 from its public works fund for immediate experiments with a quarter-section of one of the proposed seadromes, estimated to cost $1,200,000 each. If five seadromes were constructed, it is calculated that employment for 10,000 men for two to 2 1/2 years would be provided.

The sponsors of the scheme, the Seadrome Ocean Dock Corporation, have expressed their willingness to transfer the rights to the Government in return for an agreement covering the patents, of which they would remain the owners.

Estimating the income likely to be earned by the seadromes, design of the past five years, a which would be open for use trans-Atlantic service without against toll payments by any air-craft, Mr. Armstrong sets the quickly be placed in operation, trans-oceanic passenger, tariff at $100 per passenger, mail $70, and on a schedule of four sailings a day, with planes of 24-passenger capacity, arrives at a total annual income of $200,000, the South Atlantic with the The scheme has aroused great interest. Various sources, joined issue with supporters of Some critics assert that, with the seadrome project, Reuter.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MEMORIAL TO W. L. PATTENDEN

[To the Editor, "China Mail."] Sir,—There are many friends of the late Walter Leslie Pattenden who feel that his memory should be perpetuated in this Colony, where for thirty years he lived and worked and served his fellowmen.

For this reason it is proposed to erect in St. John's Cathedral, to which he was devotedly attached, a Memorial Tablet, which by its permanence will secure that W. L. Pattenden be not forgotten.

Owing to the generosity of a local firm, the cost of the tablet will be small, and it is thought that the amount will soon be oversubscribed. If this is so the surplus will be used for the provision of a Book of Services, which by its constant use will be a frequent reminder of him for whom those services were a continual inspiration.

Contributions, no matter how small, towards this memorial fund will be welcomed and acknowledged by either of the undersigned.

Yours etc.,

ALFRED SWANN.

GREATER USE OF INDIAN COTTON

Sir Richard Jackson En Route To India.

COTTON COMMISSIONER APPOINTED

London, To-day.

Sir Richard Jackson, Chairman of the Indian Cotton Enquiry Committee which was set up in Lancashire following the Ottawa Conference, to promote a greater use of Indian Cotton in Lancashire, left London yesterday for India. He will reach Bombay on January 25.

This visit is a further move in the policy, which Lancashire is energetically pursuing, of encouraging and developing a greater use of Indian cotton.

Sir Richard will investigate the problems and conditions existing in India in relation to the work of the Committee and will confer with the Indian Central Cotton Committee, its technological and other Committees, the Bombay Mill Owners' Association and the interests concerned with the marketing of cotton in various districts.

He will also visit the Sukkur Barrage in Sind and several of the botanical research stations where experiments to improve the staple of Indian cottons are being conducted.

One of the developments of the Indian Cotton Enquiry Committee has been the appointment of Mr. R. Fleming as Cotton Commissioner, who will remain in India and act as liaison officer between the raw cotton trade there and Lancashire users of Indian cotton.—British Wireless Service.

REGULATIONS FOR PILLION-RIDING

Summons Under The New Order.

OFFENDER FINED

One of the first cases under the new police order demanding that motor-cyclists be equipped with pillion seats of regulation form when carrying a passenger, was brought before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Police Court this morning when Li Cheung, driver of motor cycle No. 18, was summoned for carrying a passenger not on a pillion seat, riding an unlicensed motor cycle and being without an appropriate driving license.

Traffic Sergeant Clark prosecuted and the defendant pleaded guilty. He said that he had a learner's license and had recently returned from Shanghai and did not know that a pillion seat was required when a passenger was carried.

Traffic Inspector Nicol informed the Court that the defendant's learner's license expired in September last.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $10 on each count.

LORRY DAMAGES PRIVATE CAR.

Collision Near New Bank Site.

DRIVER FINED $15.

At the instance of Mr. Morris Davies, driver of private car No. 580, a Chinese lorry driver, Yuen Yu, was summoned at the Central Police Court this morning for negligent driving in Des Voeux Road Central on December 14 last. The defendant pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Davies in evidence said that he had just entered Des Voeux Road from Queen's Road East when he saw the defendant's lorry in the centre of the road opposite the site of the new Bank building. He sounded his horn but the driver took no heed and just as he came abreast of the lorry it moved backwards, colliding with his rear mudguard.

The defendant declared that his lorry was stationary when the collision occurred.

The Magistrate disbelieved his statement and imposed a fine of $15, in default three weeks' imprisonment.

MISHAP ON BOARD SUBMARINE.

Leading Seaman's Eye Injured.

ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF AIR PISTOL

Suffering from injury to an eye as the result of an accidental discharge of an air pistol, Leading Seaman Dawson of H.M. Submarine Pandora was last night admitted to the Royal Naval Hospital.

The incident occurred on board the submarine which is now undergoing refit at the Cosmopolitan Dock, Kowloon.

The affair is stated to have been a pure accident, but an official enquiry is being made. Leading Seaman Dawson's condition is reported to be not serious.

To-day's Short Story.

THE GOOD THING

By Colin Davy.

"PERION a good thing! Good thing me foot!" exclaimed the small wizened man at the end of the bar. He sucked his teeth, spat accurately and added with disgust: "There ain't no such thing as a racing certainty now-a-days."

The youthful speaker whose discourse had been interrupted turned to glance in disdain at the stranger who had spoken; but something in the latter's appearance suggested more intimate association with racing stables than that gleaned from the pink mid-day leaflet which protruded from his own pocket. He tempered his sneering remark on his lips to the inquiry: "Wasn't two stone in hand a good thing in your day, Dad?"

The little old man sucked his teeth and spat again. "No, it weren't," he remarked shortly. "I suppose in your day they 'ooked one up in the Gold Cup to win the seller at Windsor on Saturday," suggested the youth, winking slyly at his companions.

"There were good things to bet on without h'anything extravagant o' that sort," said the little man, gazing meditatively into his empty glass. "In those days when the money was down there weren't no ifs nor buts. No. Nor no short eads either. They did win...."

The landlord winked encouragingly at the group and tilted the gin bottle into the old man's glass, who needed no further encouragement to begin his tale.

"It was more than forty years ago," he began, "and I was with Jack Quick wot trained at Puddlecombe Folly near Wantage. He hadn't many patrons 'adn't Quick, and those there were seldom paid their bills; so the establishment got the reputation of bein' a bettin' stable. That only means that the tradespeople needn't bother to present their bills until after the stable had a winner. We had a poor lot of 'osses, mostly selling platers and one or two which at four or five years old were still waiting to win a maiden race. 'Owver, Quick by name and quick by nature, the guv'nor usually had a good thing waiting for when the ballist's men got too thick on the ground.

"There was no high-falutin' trade union ideas in those days about one lad doin' two 'osses. I often did three or four and in bad times four or five. Nor was there any rule about a fiver a winner; usually one was on a hiding to nothing." (The little man emptied his glass and saw it refilled with wistful watery eyes.) "Well, one of the 'osses I did was a grey colt called Monastic Calm. 'E was by Glastonbury out of Evening Hymn. 'E was well named; 'e was that calm 'e was only fit to carry monks to Matins. Lord Watercress 'ad paid nine thousand for 'im as a yearling and we'd all 'oped 'e'd win the Derby.

"Well by the time 'e was risin' five the closest 'e'd got to classic honours was third in a selling race with only four runners and the winner disqualified. Monastic Calm! 'E was well named, 'e wouldn't walk across 'is box to see if 'is manger was full; 'e 'ad to be fed in a bucket where 'e stood or 'e'd 'ave starved to death. 'E'd stand for hours with 'is eyes shut resting as many legs as possible with 'is lower lip hanging lookin' more like a sea lion than an 'oss whose sire 'ad won the Derby.

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "The Hollow Man," by Thomas Burke.

"I could never understand why 'is lordship didn't sell the quad, 'e'd 'ave done well in front of the Life Guards with kettle drums at either side to wake him up, but young Watercress 'e was a hopitist; 'e was and kept saying, 'E'll come to 'isself one o' these days. All 'e needs is time.' 'Is lordship was right; 'e did need it—about five minutes to the furlong....

"Well one day I was leanin' against the grey 'oss's stable door talking to Betty Quick, the guv'nor's daughter—she was a nice piece of goods and no slower than her name implied—when the most unusual thing 'appened.

"The 'oss, wot 'ad been standing like a statue since I'd called 'im in the early morning, began to move. We both stood watchin' as if it was a ghost. As a rule nothin' less than 'arf a dozen clouts on the backside and the beating of a tin bucket would make 'im lift a foot. And there 'e was a moving of 'is own accord. Very slowly 'e came toward us, poked 'is nose over the door, and sniffed. Then suddenly, quick as a monkey, 'e makes a grab an' scuttles back into the far corner of 'is box.

"'Lawks!' screams Betty, 'E's took the sausage!' And sure enough there 'e was with a string of Palethorpe's sausages from her basket 'anging from his mouth and the queerest look in 'is eye you ever did see. There was no Monastic Calm about him. He looked proper savage. 'alf, that's what he was. As if 'e said, 'You try to take one link o' these 'ere sausages and I'll...."

"Well, it was such a nasty look we didn't try. We watched those sausages disappear link by link like paper ribbon out of a conjuror's hat.... but backwards on if you know what I mean...."

The teller of the story watched his glass being refilled with a melancholy absorption and continued: "That night I noted a change when I dressed the 'oss down; 'e swished 'is tail twice and when I brought 'im in feed 'arf turned his 'ead lookin' for more sausages I suppose. I didn't think much of it, but at work early next morning 'e went so different it might have been another animal. Usually I 'ad to scrub and kick at 'im to make 'im keep up with the youngsters cantering, but this mornin' instead of being last of the bunch by 20 yards 'e kept level with the last pair.

"After stables I went to Betty and begged some scraps of meat from the kitchen—not much, but the knuckle end of a 'am and some pork chops wot 'ad gone tainted and I gave 'em to the grey 'oss. 'E ate 'em, bones and all, and when I went to feed 'im in the evening 'e turned right round in 'is box and whinnled as any other 'oss would 'ave done at evenin' feed. And would you believe me, next morning 'e galloped a fair fast up the road with old Bacchus 'ood once won a forty pound seller at Beyerley.

During the conversation Mr. Henderson informed the British Foreign Secretary of the nature of the communications he had received on the question of adequate guarantees for the loyal execution of the convention, on which he had to report to the Conference.

The forthcoming marriage between Hypolite Maria Xavier, Clerk in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and Anna Francisca Nunes, of 555, Nathan Road, Kowloon, is announced.

Mr. Henderson intimated that he hoped to be able to leave London on Tuesday. He will break his journey at Paris and proceed to Geneva on Wednesday.

He hopes to hold a meeting of the officers of the Bureau on Friday in order to take a decision as to the date of meeting of the Bureau.

The programme of work adopted by the Bureau on November 22 fixes no date as to when the Conference will resume work, but provides that such resumption shall take place during or after the January meeting of the League Council, on a date to be fixed by the President in consultation with the officers of the Bureau. DINNER DANCE AT CHINA EMPORIUM.

Returned Students' Union.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

A successful and enjoyable event took place last evening, when the Euro-American Returned Students' Union held their annual Dinner Dance at the Cafe de Luxe, China Emporium. Over 100 members attended, with many friends and guests. The arrangements were under the direction of Mr. I. S. Wan, Past President of the Union.

During the dinner officers for the coming year were appointed by ballot, as follows:—President, Mr. Hin-shing Lo; Secretary, Mr. Peter Sin; Treasurer, Mr. Wong Man-kyong; General Committee, Messrs. K. L. Chau, I. S. Wan, M. K. Lo and Andrew Cheung.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shore were welcomed as new members of the Union.

Propose U. S. Europe Seadrome Airline

Map shows the probable location of the five "floating islands" Edward R. Armstrong, president of the Seadrome Ocean Dock Corp. of Wilmington, Del., plans to string across the Atlantic from New York to Vigo, Spain, as airplane refueling and repair stations. In the event present plans for a regular trans-Atlantic air service work out, Armstrong recently applied to the RFC for a $30,000,000 loan to put his idea into operation. The "floating island" plan is interesting in view of the report that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has decided against a regular air route to Europe via Greenland and Ireland. The colonel and his wife recently made an exhaustive survey over that route with a view to determining the feasibility of a regular air passenger service.

"At first I'd thought of keepin' the thing to myself, but the 'oss improvement was so great and the price of meat so 'igh there was no choice but to tell the guv'nor. You should 'ave seen 'is face when I told him. But when 'ed seen the grey eat three pound of cat's meat and a leg of lamb wot 'ad been left in the sun that the butcher could spare and seen 'im lick all the selling platters into a cocked 'at next morning, 'e went away very very cogitativeus.

"Later 'e takes me on one side and sez: 'Nat me lad (Nathanial's me name) we'll keep this to our two selves, and 'oo knows perhaps get a packet o' money out of the old quod. No one else is to know. You'll feed 'im 'is meat o' nights when all the other lads is gone and from now on you'll work the 'oss alone."

"'But 'ow are we to know 'ow 'e improves?' sez I.

"'You have that to me,' sez 'e. 'I can fix up a trial one early morning with a 'oss of me brother's over on Beecham Down. We'll find out if 'e's improved all right when the time comes."

"Well, I'd 'ate to think what 'e cost the guv'nor in legs of mutton and sides of beef. But 'e wasn't one to spare the golden eggs that 'atch the goose. The best of everything wasn't good enough for Monastic Calm after 'e'd looked 'im over the mile once or twice. Course I couldn't say wot the timing was, but I know how me arms ached and 'ow the wind whistled past when he was a going. It was more like ridin' on the Flying Scotsman than ridin' a gallop. It fair took the breath out of a chap.

"Well, after about a month we 'ad a secret trial with an 'oss wot belonged to the guv'nor's brother. I didn't know what the weights was, but Monastic Calm beat the other 'oss by twenty yards and 'e was never going more than 'arf speed neither.

"That night I asked the guv'nor: 'When are we goin' to run the grey? Ain't it time we made something to pay the butcher?'

"Master Quick smiled and said: 'We're going to wait until Newmarket, and the butcher can wait until then too.'

"'In a seller?' sez I.

"'No, you fool. In the Cambridgehire,' sez 'e; 'The 'oss will get about seven stone and will be a certainty.'

"I suppose I said somethin' about flyin' too high, but 'e cuts in quick and supercilious 'Do you know what 'oss it was you beat this morning? It was Bachelor, 'im what was second in the Eclipse. And you gave 'im stone. Now go and give the grey 'oss 'is entree and joint.

"Well, when I thought it over I realised what that meant. We'd got the fastest 'oss in the world.

"With seven stone in the Cambridgehire 'e'd probably win by a 'undred yards; 'e'd be like a racing car amongst a lot of push bicycles.

"Now in those days you could bet. Bookies were bookies. They didn't say the book's closed after you'd put a measly hundred on a 'oss. They'd take all you cared to lay and open their mouths for more. When the entries appeared our 'oss was quoted at a 'undred to one, which meant we could back 'im to win us a fortune without riskin' much.

"Well, a week before the race I was sent off with the 'oss to a farm on the Suffolk side o' Newmarket, where we lay low to avoid the touts. My orders was to 'ack him out in clothing in the afternoon when no one expected any 'oss to gallop, strip 'im quietly be'ind the ditch, give 'im a brexzer and off back to the farm before anyone saw.

"I always finished the gallop not far from the Cambridgehire winnin' post, where another lad waited with a second set of clothing and a couple of loin chops for the 'oss as a sort of encourager. Comin' across the flat the grey seemed to smell those loin chops, and..... well, flyin' isn't the word. I often laughed to myself and thought of the crowd when they'd see this unknown grey 'oss 'undreds of yards in front of the others. I could almost 'ear them sayin' 'themselves wot's this out in front? It would be the biggest sensation there'd ever been.

"Well, the night before the race I went to the subscription rooms with Mr. Quick to 'ear them call over the card. The guv'nor 'adn't backed him with a penny up 'ill then, and he was a hundred and fifty to one in some places and two hundred in others. Mr. Quick started very quietly in fifty and ponies, but by the time we comes out the price 'ad shortened to thirty-three. The guv'nor and I went and 'ad one at a quiet pub near by and tota up what 'e stood to win.

"The old man panted, drained his glass, and added: 'Mr. Quick stood to win over seventy-five thousand pounds, and I was to 'ave ten per cent.'

"The group at the bar walked in gaping silence while the landlord refilled the empty glass, but it seemed that the teller of the tale was in no hurry to continue. He sipped his gin and hot water slowly and his glance wandered sorrowfully about the whisky advertisements on the wall.

At last one spirit bolder than the rest interrupted his reverie.

"Did it win, sir?" he asked.

The old man nodded. "Aye. Monastic Calm won by a furlong....." He drained his glass and reached for his cap, but somehow the group were aware that his story was not ended.

"And the bookmakers paid up all that money?" ventured one.

The old man shook his head. "No," he said, "the jockey couldn't weigh in, the 'oss was disqualified. You see, there was no boy with loin chops after the winning post, and I suppose the 'oss was 'ungry. He threw the little lad wot rode him..... and ate him, boots and all.... Good-night."

STIRRING SEA DRAMA RECALLED

British Liner Effects
Rescue.

COLLISION OFF PORTUGAL

Cape Town.
A stirring sea drama, in which the Llandovery Castle took part and in which two steamers came into collision in a fog off the coast of Portugal, one of them sinking with the loss of 14 lives, was recalled when the intermediate Union Castle liner, Llandovery Castle, docked here from England.
When off the coast of Portugal, the Llandovery Castle picked up a message from the Spanish steamer Romeu asking for immediate help and steamed in her direction.
The Romeu was sighted at day-break and the Llandovery stood in very close. Her captain was told that during the previous night's fog the Romeu had rammed another Spanish vessel, sinking her. Fourteen of the crew were drowned, but the master and five of the crew had been picked up.
The Romeu was badly damaged and was making water fast. Her bows were dented and blackened and it was feared that the collision bulkhead would not stand the strain. Her captain was anxious to reach Oporto and the Llandovery Castle escorted the Romeu, both travelling at a speed of eight knots an hour. They arrived off the coast about four hours later. The Romeu then signalled that she required no further assistance and the Llandovery continued on her way, having been taken 107 miles out of her course. The passengers were highly excited and for the rest of the day spotted innumerable bodies and hats, though the officers saw nothing except some wreckage.—Reuter.

This is the sign being issued to all employers who sign the code prescribed by the government under the National Recovery Act. The President has urged that all purchase only at shops and from firms displaying this sign after August first.

Ladies Of The 1933 Screen

"Dinner at Eight" the best work in this the most glittering all-star production of the year.
Then I think Alice Brady deserves commendation for her interpretation of fluttering, helpless womanhood. She has brought to talking pictures a new and distinctive brand of comedy all the more laughable because it approaches so near to reality. In "Ring Up the Curtain" she is brilliant.
Among older actresses, May Robson and Henrietta Crosman have had an excellent year.
May Robson, who put up a magnificent performance in "Mother's Millions," was forgotten for a time; but she is back again with "Lady For a Day" and "One-Man's Journey," and is to be starred in her own right.
In "Pilgrimage," which is one of the most impressive films of the year, Henrietta Crosman is outstanding as the relentless, unforgetting mother.
The New "Garbo"
That leaves us with Mrs. Ludlow Smith, whose name before her marriage was Katharine Houghton Hepburn, and whose intimate friends are privileged to call her Katie.
Just how much of the film eminence achieved by Katharine Hepburn is due to solid merit and how much to youthful arrogance is not yet clear.

Her assets are a natural gift for acting, an unusual angular appearance which she is at great pains to accentuate, an emphasis of personality probably inherited from her mother, who was one of the leading militant suffragettes of America, and an education exceptional in the film world and regarded by it as a miracle.
Circumstances making her way easy have been her good fortune in having the three best women's parts of the year, the benefit of one of the cleverest pieces of salesmanship yet devoted to establishing an actress in the favour of filmgoers, and appearing in the film world in a year setting up a new record for its scarcity of fine performances.
Katharine Hepburn is the most challenging figure of the film year—but I do not agree with those who have so easily called her a genius.
I do not agree with those who have raved about her from the moment she first appeared in "A Bill of Divorcement."
My memory of that drama carries me back to a far more lovely and logical and far more polished and poignant performance than that by Katharine Hepburn.
Were I to join the company of the idolaters of Katharine Hepburn and call her a genius, I should first have to find some greater word to describe the memory of Meggie Albani.
And that I do not find anything short of extremely difficult.

Soviet to Follow Up Stratosphere Success

Encouraged by the success of the first Soviet flight into the stratosphere, Russian aviation authorities are planning a series of flights which will begin next Spring and be carried out by the rate of one a week. To succeed, a wide subscription has been started for funds to build the necessary craft. Under the direction of G. F. Fedoseyenko, who conceived the first flight, it is proposed to build a stratosphere balloon of much greater proportions than the U.S.S.R. which, piloted by G. F. Fedoseyenko and E. E. Birbaum, attained an altitude of 11.8 miles recently, to shatter all existing records. The plan of the stratosphere program was announced as a surprise to the public.

F.A. CUP

Possibly the Spurs have lived to thank the day Luton knocked them out, since it allowed Tottenham to go straight forward for promotion.

Fulham Memories

Fulham's trip to Liverpool will conjure up memories of a drawn game Fulham played at Anfield in the Cup a few seasons back, and of a famous relay at Craven Cottage which Fulham won and which saw their goalkeeper, Ernie Becham, now "topping" for Queen's Park Rangers, carried about der high off the field by hundreds of spectators who swarmed the pitch after a glorious display on Becham's part.

Fulham are doubtless hoping that so far as the result goes history will repeat itself, but they will have to play much better than in recent matches to have a chance of holding Liverpool.

Brentford's splendid displays of late will give them strong hopes of being able to pull through at Hull against the team now known as the "offside experts," captained by the famous old international Jack Hill. They have played their two League games—2-2 at Brentford and 0-0 at Hull.

Regarding the chances of the other London clubs, neither Queen's Park Rangers nor Clapton Orient will be fancied very strongly to get over the hurdles that have been set for them.

Villa's Hurdle

Aston Villa, whose Cup-fighting traditions and performances are better than those of any other club, might easily slip at their first hurdle this season, for they have been drawn to play at Chesterfield, easily the strongest team in the Northern Section of the Third Division.

Of the two clubs outside the Football League taking part in this afternoon's draw, Worthington have been given a home engagement with Gabahead, and stand a chance of winning. Cheltenham have also been drawn at home, but will scarcely expect to beat Blackpool.

Cheltenham's Cup progress reads like a fairy tale. They were beaten in a preliminary round and yet yet into the third.

Before the Third Division teams came in, Cheltenham went to Llanelli and drew. To the surprise of many they lost the replay at home by 4 goals to 2.

That was not the end. Llanelli were disqualified for playing ineligible players and Cheltenham were awarded a bye to the quarter-finals. They are now facing the formidable Blackpool in the first round of the quarter-finals.

RECREIO "A" CHALLENGED IN CAER CLARK CUP

The Recreio juniors are playing Miss L. Botelho in place of Miss C. Almada in the forward line, but otherwise the team is unchanged.
The "Y" Ladies, the only team without a fixture, will be seen in a friendly match against the Hong Kong Ladies' second eleven at King's Park at 8.15 p.m.

The following are the teams—
H. K. Ladies:—M. Bird, E. Gray, B. Helbling, M. Wallace, E. Pope, M. K. Lower, E. Bell, J. Daisiel, E. Bonnar, J. Churchill and E. Goldman.

C.B.S.:—D. Moss, E. Ingram, J. Bryson, J. de Chaffoy, M. McGaw, J. Lakeman, H. Knill, L. Hickey, Joy Booker, J. Booker, and E. Bonneau.

"St. Andrew's":—R. Rose, G. White, E. Landolt, I. Woolley, J. Wong, M. Churn, F. Wong, L. Rogers, M. Woolley, L. Gittins and P. Gittins.

Recreio "B":—G. Rozz, T. Noronha, O. Botelho, M. Xavier, E. Rosario, Y. Brito, M. Westarout, G. Botelho, O. Ribeiro, I. Botelho, and M. Figueiredo.

C.B.A. Ladies:—Mrs. Webster, P. Woolley, Miss S. K. Walker, E. Beavis, M. Bryson, M. Whitley, E. Woolley, Mrs. Miles, M. Smith, D. Hunt and Mrs. Cressey.

Recreio "A":—D'Almada, M. Berto, C. Osmund, L. Xavier, M. Alves, L. Silva-Neto, M. Remados, A. Ayres, C. Silva, M. Boza and P. Remados.

H. K. Ladies' 2nd XI:—S. Baskott, J. Smalley, B. Helbling, B. Hume, A. Owen-Rugher, A. N. O'Neil, P. Jefferies, J. Whyte, M. Smalley, P. Ferguson and R. King.

H.K. Ladies:—J. Waller, E. Portall, A. Fowler, M. Gardiner, E. Thomson, B. Blumendahl, M. Griffiths, R. Blackmore, M. Read, P. McGaw and O. Brown.

the Border Cheltenham were involved in a scene of Carillade when the incensed crowd tried to tear the referee limb from limb.
After all this excitement, Cheltenham, who are managed by Fred Blackburn, the former Villa half-back, drew a home match against Blackpool from the 11th to 13th Cup round. Cheltenham, by the way, are the only English team competing in the quarter-finals in the North Eastern League.

Mystery Of Colonel Fawcett

British Explorer
Still Alive.

DEFINITE REPORTS OBTAINED

New York.
Definite reports that Colonel
P. H. Fawcett, the British explorer who disappeared in the Brazilian jungles 8 years ago, is still alive, have been received by Mr. Carl Liddle, the American explorer who lived for many years among the head-hunters of the upper Amazon.
Because Mr. Liddle was adopted into the head-hunter nation and given the honorary title of "Chief," he has kept up his contacts with the interior, and his latest news from Quito is that two white men, whom he believed to be Colonel Fawcett and his son, are being held prisoners in the Matto Grosso district by Indians who regard physical possession of the pair as "lucky witchcraft." Their inability to make any attempt to escape is explained by Mr. Liddle as being due to the fact that they are probably kept under the influence of certain semi-narcotic drugs.
Mr. Liddle adds: "The head-hunter tribes of Brazil are experts in the use of narcotics. As a matter of fact, their only religion is a sort of drug-worship. While they know nothing about chemistry or scientific medicine, they have learned by centuries of experience that certain plants and roots produce strange effects, hallucinations and visions which they ascribe to spirits residing in the particular plant used.

"Enemies captured by the tribe are ordinarily beheaded promptly, but this does not apply to white men. The Indians are afraid to kill white men, for fear that their souls, released through death, would do them more harm than the living white men. The soul-revenge motif is very strong in their beliefs, and it is overmastering in the case of white men, whom they regard as representatives of a God-like race capable of extraordinary revenge.

"So a white prisoner is usually guarded very carefully. But his food is drugged, subtly and progressively, with the idea of making the spirits of the plants fight the spirit of the white man.
"I think that both the Fawcetts will eventually be found, probably somewhat broken in mind and body.
But the effects of the Indian drugs can soon be overcome if the men are brought out of the jungle and given a few months of careful attention in a non-tropical climate. I know this, because I myself had quite a time getting over the effects of the drugged food which I ate for three years in the head-hunter country."—Reuter.

FAMOUS SINGER SUMMONED

Sequel To $4,000 Jewel
Purchase.

UNPAID. INSTALMENTS

Vienna.
Proceedings are being taken at the instance of the public prosecutor against Madame Marie Jeritza, the world famous Prima Donna, and her husband Baron Popper—in connection with the purchase of some jewellery valued at about $4,000.

The creditors are the well know firm of jewellers of Moritz Krauss.
Madame Jeritza gave a large order to the jewellers in better times and paid them altogether about £2,500. She then went to America where she was so seriously ill that she was unable to fulfil her contracts and consequently the balance of the bill remained unpaid.

In an effort to recover the sum owing Madame Jeritza's Vienna flat was entered by the brokers but they could find nothing to seize as all the valuables belonged to her husband.

Madame Jeritza when first summoned declared that she was quite ready to return the jewellery but the plaintiffs would not agree to this on account of the serious fall in the price of such articles.—
